

Service Agreement

This agreement is made between the supplier and the customer named below.

The supplier shall deliver the goods within sixty days of the order.

All prices exclude value added tax, which the customer pays at the rate in force on the date of the invoice. Payment is due within fourteen days of that date. Interest on late payment accrues daily at the base rate published by the central bank plus four percent, from the day after the due date until the day the payment is received in full, and the supplier may suspend deliveries while any invoice remains unpaid.
